LIBERTYVILLE PROVES EASY

Antioch high school foot ball team will travel to Wauconda Saturday to meet the eleven representing that school. The local boys will travel by auto and a number of rooters are planning to attend the contest.

Last Saturday the local high school team swamped the eleven representing Libertyville by a score of 62 to 0. Mrs. Carpenter's subject will be "The Young Girl Problem in the Small Town." This is a vital topic, one in which every thinking woman should be intensely interested.

The first meeting of the club year, held two weeks ago, was greatly enjoyed by all present and the program committee is particularly urging the attendance of every member on next Monday.

Any one wanting a high class farm, will do well to be there and bid on it. An inspection of the farm is invited before the sale, and further particulars can be had from the owner, Vida S. Mooney, at Antioch, of L. J. Slocum, Wadsworth, Ill. Phone Antioch 168 W-1. Sale of personal property follows sale of farm.

Prosecute Those Who Run Through Road Barricades

A number of accidents have resulted because of the practice of automobilists breaking through the barricades on Waukegan road north of Eighteenth street, and threats of arrest and heavy fines are being made by road officials as a result.

B. R. Wight, resident engineer of the state highway department, who has charge of all the construction work in this section declared that the Waukegan road will be open from the 18th street to Washington street in about a week, and that it is now barricaded.

"Several have broken through this barricade and come to grief," Mr. Wight said. "Red lanterns have not even kept them out and if we catch the offenders it will mean $100 and costs."

"Several of those who stalled their machines even had the nerve to ask damages. They'll get damage—the wrong way."

Mr. Wight had charge of the construction work also on the Zion road, Grand avenue and the federal aid on Waukegan road.

Father Batty at St. Ignatius' Church

Next Sunday, October 16, the 21st Sunday after Trinity, will be the regular monthly visitation of the priest-in-charge. The holy eucharist will be celebrated at 8 and 11 a. m. and all the communicants of the church are urged to be present and to make their communion at either one of the services. Church school as usual at 9:45 in the morning.

FIREMEN TO INSPECT BUILDINGS

The Antioch Volunteer Fire Department held its regular meeting Tuesday evening and a great deal of business was taken care of. One very important matter brought up before the department was the carelessness and lack of repairs of property in the business district, a committee was appointed to make an inspection of all buildings in the business district, covered by the village fire ordinance. This inspection will include two schools.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter of local insurance agents not paying their two per cent upon the gross receipts of such moneys received from insurance policies. This is covered by a village ordinance and the matter will be taken care of immediately.

On November 11, the firemen will hold their annual dance in the Opera house. A committee has been appointed for the coming event and will do everything to make this a memorable occasion in Antioch.

The subject of different people of the village making a practice of using the village fire equipment for outside purposes was one of the questions brought before the board and an unanimous protest was voiced by all those present. A warning is hereby given that this practice must be stepped as these parties are endangering the welfare of the town.

Tiffany Appointed Revenue Collector for Lake County

Albert N. Tiffany, former state senator from this district, has just received the appointment of Deputy collector of revenue for the district comprising all of Lake County. The appointment came from John C. Cannon, collector of internal revenue for the first district. Mr. Tiffany has established an office in the postoffice building at Waukegan.

Under the present plans Mr. Tiffany will be on duty in Lake county practically all the time as it is figured that this district is big enough to warrant such a course. Mr. Tiffany's duties will be the collection of internal revenue and also income tax returns.

At the present time he has two assistants here and it is possible that he will have aid from time to time. Most of the time, however, he will be able to carry on the work alone. Mr. Tiffany asserted that he probably will divide his time between Waukegan and Antioch as he plans to have an office in each place.

The action in granting Lake county a collector who will be on duty all the time will fill a long felt need.

STATE ROAD WILL START IN SPRING

Libertyville Shows No Cooperation on Its Northern Neighbors

SELFISHNESS IS EVIDENT

The report of the interview given to Supervisor Eger of Libertyville by State Supervisor of Highway Sheets has been denied. The report as it appeared in a Libertyville paper is as follows:

"At the convention of county officers in Alton last week Superintendent Sheets of the state highway department positively assured Supervisor Eger of Libertyville, with whom he talked at length, that the contract for paving Milwaukee avenue from Wheeling to Libertyville, would be let before spring and the work completed next summer. He said it would be another year before the contract from Libertyville north to Grayslake would be let, but emphasized that the Wheeling-Libertyville stretch is on next spring's program, and certain of completion before next fall.

Supervisor Eger feels it is more important at this time to secure the required right-of-way for the road west from Kohout's greenhouse to Libertyville than it is that north to Grayslake, as Rockland road will be completed first, and in fact the contract would have been let ere this if the township had secured the right-of-way specified by the highway commission. Mr. Eger favors immediate action looking to getting the necessary right-of-way on Rockland road, and that accomplished, feels assured the north and south and east and west highways will both be completed to Libertyville during next summer.

State highway officials accompanied a committee of Libertyville men Wednesday over a tour of the proposed routes for the cement road-way from Libertyville to Grayslake. Mr. George Lamb, superintendent for the northern district of Illinois, and a Mr. Brewster, also of the state highway department, with Superintendent Eger, Mayor Hyatt, Attorney MacGuffin, Chas. Wilcox and John Bernard, walked from Libertyville to Grayslake along the St. Paul right-of-way, returning by auto over other routes intersecting Milwaukee avenue north of Libertyville.

What the state highway officials concluded as a result of their inspection could not be determined, as they declined to express an opinion at that time. The feasibility of using Lake street west to a point where an overhead crossing of the St. Paul tracks would be possible was discussed, but did not meet with much favor. It is the opinion of some of the local committeemen the route eventually selected will be along Milwaukee avenue to one of the east and west intersecting highways north of town and then west to the Soo line right-of-way, and thence north to Grayslake and Antioch.

It is easily to be seen that the citizens of this part of the county will have to do something, and do it quick, if they want to get the state bond issue road through to the state line next year.

The lack of co-operation on the part of the citizens of Libertyville in giving these northern neighbors any assistance in getting the state road put through this year is greatly deplored and is generally conceded as an act of selfishness on their part.

There is no doubt but what an attempt will be made on the part of the citizens of this section of the county to get an early hearing with Mr. Sheets for action on the road as far as the state line.

Harry Beck Drowns in River at Wilmot

Harry Beck, aged 21, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Beck, of Wilmot, was drowned in the river just south of here at about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Harry, in company with his father and Johnny Hasselman, had been hunting and fishing. On returning the boys left Mr. Beck on the pier and started to lift the boat over the mill dam. Harry was on top trying to lift up the boat when the water caught it, swung it around and threw Harry into the water. He made an effort to swim and Johnny Hasselman made a brave attempt to save him, getting into the boat and holding out an oar to him, but the force of the water carried him away before other help could reach the scene. The boat filled with water and Johnny was thrown into the river about 15 feet from shore. He has no recollection of how he reached shore but picked himself up on a stone pile soon after. He was in a state of collapse from the cold and struggle in the water but has recovered nicely. His heroic struggle to rescue Harry is to be commended.

As yet the body of Harry has not been found. Men have been working with boats and hooks to try and locate it but have been unsuccessful.

Frank K. Bumstead Dies; Publisher of Directories

The death of Frank K. Bumstead, of Evanston, occurred Thursday last. It was he who published the Waukegan city and Lake county directories for thirty years.

A week ago last Saturday he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and last Thursday he had another, which proved fatal.

Mr. Bumstead was well known to the business and professional men and women of this community, having solicited advertising for his directories for nearly a third of a century. A new directory for Waukegan was started by Mr. Bumstead and had gone into the hands of the printers when his death occurred. The firm announced today that the directory will be completed just as planned.

Mr. Bumstead leaves a widow and three children, Whitney, Gertrude, Berkery and Catherine Hibbard.

Milk Producers Hold Meeting Tomorrow Night

A meeting of the Antioch local of the Milk Producers' association will be held in Antioch Friday evening, October 14. Officials of the Milk Producers association will be present to give facts in regard to the association. All members of the association are urged to be present.

The situation in regard to the Marketing company is about the same. A meeting of the directors was held on Tuesday, the stated order of business being the sale of two or three plants of the Marketing company.

The plans of the Marketing company to push the collection due on contracts of members who withdrew will be started, a test case possibly taking place in Janesville first.

There is doubt in some quarters as to whether this collection can be legally accomplished on account of the Marketing company's admittance of mismanagement, many believing that judgment could be secured as this being a violation of their part of the contract.

LEN SMALL TO BE TRIED IN WAUKEGAN

Will Appear Before Judge
Edwards in November
Term

MAY LAST SEVERAL MONTHS

Gov. Len Small and Verene E. Curtis, of Grant Park, indicted on charges of embezzlement of state funds and conspiracy to defraud the state, will go on trial in Lake county. The governor's counsel and State's Attorney C. Fred Mortimer agreed on this county prior to appearing before Judge Frank W. Burton this morning on the petition of the defense for a change of venue from Sangamon county.

Judge Burton directed that the venue to Lake county be entered of record, and the way is now clear for the trial at Waukegan of the most important case of its kind ever tried in an Illinois court.

Claims of Gov. Small and his counsel that a speedy trial is wanted will be met by the state, for there is a November term of court in Lake county. Judge Claire C. Edwards of Waukegan is scheduled to sit at the November term of the circuit court.

The other judges of the district are Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo, for years a leader in the state legislature and in state politics, and Robert K. Walsh, of Rockford. Four counties make up that judicial circuit, Winnebago, Boone, McHenry and Lake.

The announcement that the Governor Small case would be tried in Lake county at once started the talk of "the great expense to Lake county." As this case originates in Sangamon county that county will have to pay the expenses.

Advices late today from the county seat are that the trial will take upward of two months, further that every available hotel room has already been engaged for the many attorneys, down state witnesses and newspaper men. The Chicago Tribune who has been fighting the Governor continuously since he became candidate for the nomination has reserved seven rooms.

It will be the thing for all to await giving their decision until the case is heard. As developments come it will clear the atmosphere of the changes of politics.

TAKES CARE OF 5 CHILDREN

Mrs. Taylor's Sickness Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Roxbury, Mass.—"I suffered continually with backache and was often despondent, had dizzy spells and at my monthly periods it was almost impossible to keep around at my work. Since my last baby came two years ago my back has been worse and no position I could get in would relieve it, and doctor's medicine did not help me. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have found great relief since using it. My back is much better and I can sleep well. I keep house and have the care of five children so my work is very trying and I am very thankful I have found the Compound such a help. I recommend it to my friends and if you wish to use this letter I am very glad to help any woman suffering as I was until I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. MAUDE E. TAYLOR, 6 St. James Place, Roxbury, Mass.

Backache is one of the most common symptoms of a displacement or derangement of the female system. No woman should make the mistake of trying to overcome it by heroic endurance, but profit by Mrs. Taylor's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A MILLION.

Synopsis.—In a New York jewelry store Philip Severn, United States consular agent, noticed a small box which attracts him. He purchases it. Later he discovers in a secret compartment a writing giving a clue to a revolutionary movement in this country seeking to overthrow the Chilean government. The writing mentions a rendezvous, and Severn decides to investigate. Finding the place mentioned in the writing apparently deserted, Severn visits a saloon in the vicinity. A woman in the place is met by a man, seemingly by appointment, and Severn, his suspicions aroused, follows them. They go to the designated meeting place, an abandoned iron foundry. At the rendezvous Severn is accepted as one of the conspirators and admitted. He meets a stranger who addresses him as Harry Daly. The incident plays into Severn's hands and he accepts it. His new acquaintance is a notorious thief, "Gentleman George" Harris. Concealed, Severn hears the girl address the conspirators. She urges them to hasten the work of revolution. The girl discovers Severn listening. She accepts his explanation of his presence and asks him to meet her next day. He tells her his name is Daly. She is "Miss Conrad."

I began to think Harris had gone away with the others, and left me there alone. I heard voices speaking earnestly in the distance, but without venturing forth from my hiding place. Then he appeared suddenly, bringing in his arms a bottle and a box of cigars.

"Toss a match to the gas-jet, Daly," he said, feeling for the table in the dark. "That's better. I hung around until the gang all got out, so as to be sure we were safely alone. Have a drink, and light up, old man. We are as secure here as we would be at the bottom of the sea. This is Alva's whisky, but good—I sampled it before."

He sat on the table, nursing his knee, rather pleased with himself. I thought, a clear thrust between his lips, the blue smoke curling up before his face. I ignored the invitation to drink, but helped myself to a weed, waiting for him to open conversation. "Well," he said finally, "everything is going according to Hoyle, but there is a knot or two yet to be untied before we squeeze that million. Did you hear what was said in there?"

"No; you told me to stick here."

"Still in a way you're on—Waldron must have spilled part of the scheme to you, that's what got your foot in the mess. H—! I know Ivan Waldron, the d—d Russian Jew; he'd double-cross his best friend. What was it he told you?"

"Not very much," I said, wondering how far I had better go, yet feeling it necessary to relate enough to convince him that I was really conversant with the situation, and endeavoring to imitate his style of speech. "According to his story there was a gang of conspirators here—birds from South America mostly—who had been rounded up by this fellow Alva to pull off some frightfulness, or other. I didn't catch on to just what it was, and perhaps Waldron himself didn't know, or care. Some revolution, I took it to be. Waldron explained how he got hold of the scheme. It seems he's in with the bunch to some extent; that is, they use him whenever they need to, and occasionally hand him a bunch of money—it's never too dirty for him to touch. Anyhow, he knew enough to put me wise to this dump, gave me the pass-word, and all that. It looked as though there might be something in it, so I blew over here tonight just to take a look. I was merely prowling around when I ran into you."

"There is a Knot or Two Yet to Be Untied."

"I see," he muttered, as I came to an end, chewing savagely on his cigar.

"Did the Russian say anything about me?"

"Not a whisper. I supposed I had a clear run for the money, except his ruse."

"The dirty dog. Because I didn't show up on the dot, he was ready to ditch me. Now listen, and I'll tell you the straight story. I'm going to need you, and we'll divide fifty-fifty, leaving this guy to suck his thumbs. Is that a go?"

"He's sure nothing to me—shoot."

Harris poured out a stiff drink, and put it down; then touched a match to the extinguished cigar.

"Waldron sent me a cable in England about a month ago," he explained briefly. "He didn't make the thing very clear, only that he had a big deal on, and wanted me in on it. I had made enough to get back on, and took a second-class passage on the Vulcan. It was not a big boat, and, to escape close inspection, I went aboard at Queenstown. At that time I had no more notion what was up than a blind rat. I was just desperate enough to take a chance."

He paused and relit his stub, with an oath at finding it again useless.

"Then things began to happen. I was room-mate with a bird named Horner, who claimed to live in Detroit. He must have cottoned to me, for we got a bit chummy, and in that way I picked odds and ends out of him which set me thinking. He was quite a foxy bird—one of these tall, raven-boned, secretive cusses, who talk a lot, but never say nothing, and he came near getting my goat. I went through his baggage, of course, but that was just ordinary stuff—he only had one grip, which he left unlocked, but I did get onto a pocket belt the fellow wore around his waist. He never let that get away from him night or day. I studied every d—n way I could think up to get a peep at it, but nothing gave me a chance. I came near going bugs over the thing."

He laughed, exhibiting a row of rather ugly teeth behind his lips. "Then the devil must have helped me. One night—five days out, for we were a slow boat—we ran into a h—l of a storm. We both of us tumbled out, and began hustling on our duds. He was trying to get a shoe on, and went plunging head-on into the side of the ship. I reckon it nearly brained him, but, to make things surer, I handed him one to the jaw before he got his senses, and he went out for the count. Then, believe me, I didn't lose no time in frisking the guy—and, say, what do you think I found?"

I shook my head, unwilling to interrupt, fascinated with his description. "The fellow was a revolutionary agent. I didn't get onto all of it then—I didn't have time, but I found a letter of credit for a million dollars, and a memorandum of how it was to be delivered. The d—n thing wasn't any good to me—it was to be paid to this fellow by a banker in New York named Krantz—but it sure made my mouth water just to see it—a million dollars, good old U. S. currency. Can you beat it?"

"Looked easy—you had it, and you didn't have it."

"You said it, Daly. I didn't dare keep the thing, and it wouldn't have done me any good if I had; there was no way of my cashing the paper. What the h—l could I do? If I denounced him, the game was all off; if I held on to the stuff he'd report his loss soon as he landed in New York, and that letter of credit wouldn't be worth the paper it was written on. Say, I was in some boat; but, believe me, I had no notion of giving up that million—it looked darned good."

"It should say yes," and I leaned forward to show my interest. "And from what I know of you, Harris, that guy had no show on earth. Did you crouch him?"

He grinned, evidently pleased at the note of admiration in my voice, and tossed down another drink. "That never ain't been in my line. Of course I was tempted to—a cool million would tempt any guy. But I just shoved everything back exactly where it came from, and fetched the steward. Between us we hoisted Horner back into the bunk and doused him with water till he came to. First thing he did was to feel for that belt, and he never got wise that it had ever been touched. Anyhow, he never let on to no suspicion."

CHAPTER VI.

The Deserted Automobile.

I was impatient for him to continue, but he sat there chuckling to himself, and toying with a fresh cigar.

"Well, what did you do?"

"Played it safe and sure. I'm too old a bird to be caught napping. I put in most of that night holding wet cloths to Horner's head, and thinking out some plan of action. Before morning he thought I was the best fellow he ever knew, and I had the guy where I wanted him. For one of his breed, he was rather a friendly cuss. This was how I mapped it out. That letter of credit had to be turned into currency before it could do me any good, and the only way that might be done was through this guy Alva. I must get to him somehow in a way that would put me next his scheme, so I'd know when he had the cash. Once I got these details attended to in little old New York, the swag was as good as my own. I knew a dozen guys that would bump Horner off for a hundred if it came to that—so the price wasn't high. A million! Oh, man; and it had dropped right into my lap. But to do this it was necessary that I should be Horner. That was as plain as the nose on my face; as Horner, coming with credentials, and a letter of credit, Alva would be bound to receive me with open arms—see! After that I figured it would be easy enough. But how was I to become Horner?"

"You couldn't divvy with him?"

"I should say not; he was a square guy. It didn't take me five days to find that out. So there wasn't but one way out of it—I had to put Horner out of commission, and cop his belt. It was either that, or lose a million."

I looked at him, with a sickening feeling of horror I found hard to suppress, but he went on indifferently in the same cool, calm voice.

"There's no use going into details, Daly. We landed good friends, and Horner was in a strange land. You know New York pretty well, and I lost him the first afternoon down on the East side. I never did know just what became of the fellow, but the next morning I was alone in a back room in Greenwich, and had his belt with me." He chuckled grimly. "There wasn't much in it, except the letter of credit and a notation as to where and when Krantz could be seen privately. It was the next night Harris was to call on the banker up in Le Compté street."

"Le Compté? What number?"

"247 Le Compté. Do you know anybody there?"

"No; only Le Compté is an old stamping ground of mine. Go on; you went there, of course."

"Sure. Krantz didn't know me from Adam, not even my name. I was just '108' to him, but he was mighty nervous, just the same, and anxious to get away. I could see that. I don't think it was his house either; just an ordinary-looking shack, brick, three stories and a basement."

"That banker was business all right, and he put me through the whole bundle of tricks before he'd even let me sit down. I had to lie some, but mostly I was posted well enough so as to give him what he was looking for. Anyhow, I passed, and after that he was rather decent. Took me into a room and gave me a drink, besides asking me about 'affairs in Europe. H—! I didn't know only what I'd seen in the papers—but I gave him an earful, and on the strength of his name I cussed England for all I was worth—which at that time was about a million bucks. Then I handed over the letter of credit, and he jammed it into his pocket like it was a scrap of paper. I don't remember that he even looked at it. After that he was for getting rid of me, the sooner the better. But I needed to know where Alva was, so I hung on, telling the old guy I had a private message that I had to deliver personally—straight from them financiers in London. So, after skimming a while, he jotted down an address on a bit of paper, and the next thing I knew I was out in the street, with that gripped in my mitt."

MOTHER! CLEAN

CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.

The United States ranks first as a cattle-raising country, with 66,502,000 head; Australia, fourth, with 11,819,000 head. Texas is the leading cattle-raising state in the United States. Its production is about the same as that of Australia, possibly a little greater.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

CARRIED SECRET TO GRAVE

Canadian Prospector Refused to Divulge Location Where Gold Cropped Out.

A man who kept his secret to the end was the Canadian hunter Gilbertson. Sixty years ago, when he was making a canoe trip up the Wapish river, the New York Evening Post states, he struck camp for the night near what later discoveries indicate must have been a large body of gold-bearing ore. Without knowing what this ornamental stone was, he took home a big piece to use for a door weight. A while after this a geologist who was visiting Gilbertson identified the ore, and a rush to stake claims along the Wapish ensued. But the unwitting prospector would never tell where he made his great find. In later years he became insane and died, still refusing to reveal the location. This season a systematic search of that country is being made in hope of rediscovering "the Gilbertson lode."

MUCH IDLE LAND TO BE UTILIZED

Sources of Timber Supply for Chicago Market Exhausted One After Another.

FREIGHT BILLS NOW HIGHER

Ample Area to Support All Lumber Requirements if Land Could be Kept at Work Growing Various Kinds of Trees.

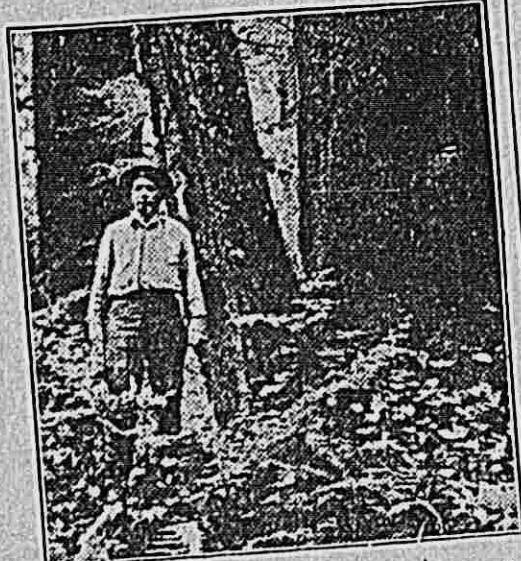

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Reforestation has not been taken seriously by the average business man in the United States," said Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture, before the National Association of Wood Turners recently. "Reforestation has been looked upon as a bad thing removed from the practical interests of the manufacturer, as something more concerned with parks or shade trees or rose bushes."

World's Greatest Lumber Market. "Chicago is the greatest lumber market in the world. Since 1890 an average of over 2,000,000,000 feet of lumber has come into Chicago every year. In 1920 the figure was nearly 2,500,000,000 feet, 60 per cent of which went into local construction and manufacturing industries. In 1900 the average freight paid on lumber coming into Chicago was less than $3 per M feet. Since that time the local sources of supply for this territory have been exhausted one after another. Lumber shipments have traversed greater and greater distances, and the average freight bill paid by the Chicago distributor has steadily risen to more than $12 per M feet.

"In other words, the increased transportation charge on lumber shipments into Chicago, as a result of the exhaustion of the forest regions surrounding it, represents a toll of $22,500,000 annually. And while this has happened there have accumulated in the Central and Lake states nearly 23,000,000 acres of logged-off forest land which is producing neither farm crops nor timber; $22,500,000 is the yearly tax which the wood-using industries and home builders, supplied through Chicago, pay for the idleness of a large part of the soil in the surrounding states which should furnish the natural supply for this district. This sum would plant every year 1,500,000 acres of land with forest trees.

"This illustration may be extended to cover the four states of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. These states consume annually between Scene in a Forest in the Pacific Northwest.

4,000,000,000 and 5,000,000,000 feet of timber in furniture factories, agricultural implements, wood-turning establishments and other wood-using industries. Sawmills are excluded from this estimate, also the requirements for general construction and housing, and the consumption of lumber on farms. The manufacturers referred to represent an invested capital of $790,000,000 and enroll 200,000 skilled employees.

Rapidly Exhausting Timber Supplies.

"We are cutting our timber probably four times as fast as timber is being grown. It is useless to decry the generous use which American industry has made of our forests. It has contributed powerfully to the industrial development and commercial supremacy of the United States. The forestry problem does not result from the liberal use of our forests, but from our failure to use our forest-growing land. There is an ample area of land in this country, which is not tillable, to support all of our wood requirements, all of our home building and agricultural use of lumber, indeed, an even larger export trade than at present, if that land can be kept at work growing timber. Reforestation has become a commercial necessity of the United States."

DEMAND FOR SMALL CAPONS

Little Matter of Education Make Fowl of Lighter Breeds Quite Popular.

There is already a considerable demand for small mature capons. A little matter of education will make the capon from the small variety, when fat and well finished, just as popular as the big heavy capon from the larger breeds for the very good and simple reason that the small family often use a five or six-pound capon to better advantage than they can a ten or twelve-pound one.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS FOR FUNDS

Needs Money to Continue Its Work of Mercy Among Illinois' Needy.

COUNTY QUOTAS ARE SMALL

Money to Be Raised Between October 24 and 31—Francis S. Peabody Heads Advisory Boards.

Chicago, Ill.—Francis S. Peabody, of Chicago, president of the Peabody Coal company, and chairman of the Salvation Army state advisory board, has taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and started the machinery for the army's home service appeal in Illinois during October 24 to 31.

Chairman Peabody is optimistic as to the outcome of the army's appeal for funds with which to continue and extend its service in the state.

"With the excellent men we have on our county advisory boards, there can be no such word as failure in the coming appeal," he said today.

"The Salvation Army is very well known in Illinois and the people of this state are familiar with its wonderful work. Especially is this true since the state has been going through the unemployment crisis. The army has been and is one of the leading organizations in the state in distributing aid and comfort to our unfortunate.

"Last week the army launched, in Chicago, a gigantic plan to employ every worthy ex-service man in the city," continued Chairman Peabody. "It put to work needy ex-service men, and paid them one dollar and fifty cents per day just to look for work. And then the army gave the men cards containing the names of men to call on for employment.

"In my opinion this move is the greatest yet devised to care for the ex-service men and to place them in employment. Within a short time I would not be surprised to see this plan for the Salvation Army adopted throughout the country.

"I have looked over the list of men in each of the 102 counties in Illinois, who comprise the Salvation Army's advisory boards and in each county I find the members are the men who are doing the big things in their counties.

Quotas Are Small. "My personal acquaintance with the work of the army in Illinois makes me more than anxious to see every county and more than anxious to see every county subscribe its full quota, which will be small because the amounts asked by the organization this year have been 'cut to the bone.'

"I feel," continued Chairman Peabody, "that it is the duty of every citizen in the state to get back of the Salvation Army and contribute to its success in the coming appeal, October 24 to 31.

"Some of our county boards already have organized to raise their quotas and two counties have actually begun their campaigns.

"The state board took care in preparing the budget this year not to include any items not absolutely essential to the continuation and extension of this great service in Illinois."

Chairman Peabody, who has been an active supporter of the army for many years, will be assisted in the company appeal by a large group of leading professional and business men and women.

The Salvation Army slogan—"A Man May Be Down But He Is Never Out"—was never more closely demonstrated than at the present time in Illinois, where thousands of unemployed men and women are cared for by the army.

Hundreds of persons are saved each year by the Salvation Army anti-suicide bureau, operated in every city where a Salvation Army corps is maintained.

Red Cross Trains 147 Blind Vets In Useful Work

Training designed to fit them for the battle of life was taken by 147 blind ex-service men at the Red Cross Institute for the Blind, near Baltimore, Md., during the fiscal year 1920-1921, according to the report of the Institute for that period.

Of this number, 10 have gone on to other institutions, in almost every case to institutions where those having sight are receiving advanced education. The blind ex-service men who have entered such institutions are provided with special text-books in Braille, reading which they were taught at the Red Cross Institute.

Twelve men have passed from the Institute to successfully carry on some occupation or business for which they were fitted by special training. A few have withdrawn from the Institute because of poor physical condition, 14 are receiving further "training on the job" and 57 are still in training.

Red Cross Plans $6,000,000 Effort To Save Children

Medical care and clothing for thousands of children in Central and Eastern Europe are outlined as the activities of the American Red Cross in Europe for the current year, says a statement on the eve of the Annual Roll Call of the organization. These activities, supplemental to the feeding operations of the European Relief Council, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, are designed to provide the most adequate and balanced relief within the resources of private philanthropy.

Through the establishment of child welfare stations in the centers of population of those countries where adequate medical care is not now obtainable, the American Red Cross plans to provide the medical assistance needed to restore these children to a normally healthy life. The sum of $6,000,000 has been made available for this work.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below—

Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

Sept. 10, 1921

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Jacksonville, Florida.

Gentlemen:—

I submit herewith the history of a 33x4 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles. I have retreaded it seven times. The average mileage to each retread was about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tires proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am mailing photographs under separate cover.

C. U. Penny, Plant City, Fla.

Sept. 2, 1921

The Harvey E. Mack Co., Thirteenth & Harmon Place, Minneapolis.

Gentlemen:—

It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage between 34,000 and 35,000. These were both cut considerably by rear tires and had been in use for some time. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

Be Loyal

Don't go abroad to buy something when you have a few dollars to spend and then ask your home merchants to sell to you on time when you are broke. If you have bills with your merchant who has given you credit and an extension of time and accepted small payments, and take your cash to the city to spend with a stranger who has no interest in your town, nine times out of ten he will "do" you because he never expects to see you again. The home merchant will save you money with reliable goods, which he guarantees with his reputation.

A town that is large enough and good enough for a man to earn his living in is good enough for him to buy his provisions in. If he does not think so, both he and the town would be better off if his tent were pitched on other prairies.—Durand, Ill., Gazette.

YANK KICKS-IN WITH NEW DRUM

A certain Salvation Army corps has a new drum.

A tall, row-boned American doughboy, wearing the insignia of the American Army of Occupation, lugged the drum into the place last week.

"Say, Cap," yelled the soldier, "here's a new drum. A couple of years before the war I stole one of your drums and the gang and me had a great time."

"I thought it was a pretty good joke on you birds until the war came and I went to France. Then one day some lassies came through the trenches and handed us coffee and doughnuts."

"That was the day I promised myself if I'd ever get home again I'd buy a new drum for you."

Indian as Tobaccoist Sign.

The selection of the Indian as a sign by tobaccoists in the early years following the introduction of the "weed" into Europe, was undoubtedly due to the fact that it was generally known that tobacco had first been found in use among the Indian tribes of the new world. Its use was first reported to Christopher Columbus in November, 1492, by a party sent out by him to explore the island of Cuba. The plant itself, however, was not brought to Europe until 1558, when Francisco Fernandez, a physician sent by Philip II, of Spain, to investigate the products of Mexico, brought it with him on his return home.

One State Bought Another.

Massachusetts bought the claims of the Georges heirs to the state of Maine in 1677 for about £1,250.

The Wide Spaces.

The air was very clear and crystalline. The lighthouses on the ends of the twin piers, though some miles distant, seemed close at hand. White herring gulls, cruising against the blue, flashed white as the sails of a distant ship. A fresh breeze darkened the blue velvet surface of the water, tumbling the white foam blossing up the beach, blew forward over the dunes a fine hurrying mist of sand, and bore to Orle at last the refreshment of the wide spaces.—Stewart Edward White.

Insects Cause Small Loss.

It is said insects cause a loss of $1,500,000,000 annually in the United States, but that's a mere bagatelle compared with the loss caused by human stupidity and indolence.—Houston Post.

Water and Electricity. The bureau of standards says if a stream of water from a hose is thrown upon high tension wires at close range there is considerable hazard from the possible conduction of electricity by the stream of water back to the men holding the nozzle. If, however, the stream of water be thrown from a distance such that the water breaks up into drops before coming in contact with the electrical conductors, there is little danger, as such a stream of water is nonconducting.

There was a sound of merrymaking in the vicinity of Lake Catherine last Saturday and Sunday, the source being a week-end party given by Mr. and Mrs. John G. E. Puerkel and Miss Anna Campbell, Mrs. Puerkel's sister, in the two cottages owned by Mr. D. D. Campbell of Antioch. About eighteen guests were present—most of them arriving on Saturday and staying until Sunday evening. The principal part of Saturday night's entertainment was a card game, in which the girls were taught some games new to them, about which they grew very enthusiastic. Some of the zest of the joking, however, was lost because of the absence of those who were to have been the chief "victims." Mr. Edmund Cross and his bride, formerly Miss Bessie Rice. The newlyweds would have had an interesting time, but they apparently had a premonition and did not arrive until Sunday, when they were received with cheers. Mr. C. Lloyd Leighty, an ardent disciple of Szak Walton spent nearly all his time on the lake and it is said he caught A FISH. The entire party took dinner at Ross' restaurant and then went back to the lake to continue the festivity until evening. Some high class horse shoe playing was indulged in and more games played. Supper was served at the cottage before the guests left. Those present besides Mr. and Mrs. Puerkel and Miss Campbell, were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bowman of Riverside, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Leighty and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Miller of Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cross and Mr. Edwin Simons of Chicago, Mrs. Walter Minnich of East Orange, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bannister of Genoa Junction, Wis. The party was adjourned Sunday night, all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves and wishing and hoping for a recurrence of the event next year. Contributed by one of the guests.

"Association of Ideas." This phrase seems to have been used first by John Locke, an English philosopher, who lived in the seventeenth century, but the facts referred to were recognized as early as the time of Aristotle, when four ways by which the mind passes from one idea to another were discovered. These were known as association by similarity, by continuity, by contrast and by succession.

Should Not Walk Too Soon.

A flat foot—that is, a foot almost without any instep—is not only a deformity, but it engenders an awkward walk. Sometimes, also, the foot leans more to the outer side or more to the inner side. Both these defects are generally caused by trying to make children walk too soon. Children should not be encouraged to walk until the bones of their little feet are strong enough to support the weight of their body.

Sensed Something Wrong. Little Miss Polly, age seven, came over to see us one evening and requested that we play the record on the phonograph, which was "Even Though Bravest," from Faust, sung by Reinold Werrenath. She listened for a few minutes and then said, "That's a religious piece, isn't it?" On being told that it was a grand opera selection, she remarked, "My goodness, that's terribly quiet for grand opera."—Exchange.

NEWS BRIEFS OF INTEREST TO COMMUNITY

Lightning struck the big stock and grain barn on the farm of Elmer Fuller, one mile north of Gurnee at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, fire completely destroying it. The milk house also was burned and several holes were burned in the garage. A silo also was damaged.

Practically all Illinois' corn crop is safe from frost, according to S. D. Fessenden, United States agricultural statistician. The crop is mostly matured and the grain has been well dried out by the sun.

The annual meeting of the Lake County Fair association, at which time the election of officers will be held, will be at Libertyville on the afternoon of December 7. The association is already working on plans to make next year's event better than it was this year, which is saying whole lot.

The Harvard local of the Milk Producers' association has withdrawn from the milk marketing company and notified the Bowman Dairy company at that place to pay all milk money direct to the individual producer hereafter.

Nearly every third farm in the United States had at least one automobile on the first day of last year, according to the department of agriculture. Of the 6,448,366 farms in the United States, 1,979,564, or 30.7 per cent, reported having automobiles to the number of 2,146,512. Although Iowa led all other states in the number of automobiles on farms, having 177,558, Nebraska, with 104,453, showed the highest percentage in relation to the number of farms, heading the list with 75.6 per cent.

Motor trucks were reported on 131-551 farms in 1920, or about two farms out of every 100 in the United States as a whole. The number of motor trucks on these farms was 139,169. The states leading in the number of motor trucks on farms are: Pennsylvania, with 9,372; New York, with 9,259; Iowa, with 8,910; Ohio, with 7,319; Nebraska, with 6,548; California, with 6,416, and Illinois, with 6,154.

Three and six-tenths per cent of the farms in the county were reported as having tractors on January 1, 1920. This is about one farm out of every twenty-eight. The 229,334 farms thus represented had a total of 246,129 tractors.

Youthful Author of Famous Hymn.

The hymn, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," was written by one of the most interesting and eccentric figures of early Methodism, Robert Robinson, a London hair-dresser's apprentice, early fell under the influence of the mighty Whitefield; became converted at twenty, and is credited with being the author of "Come, Thou Fount," at twenty-two.

Answering a question as to the religious significance of the so-called Eleventh Commandment, a reader states that the answer is found in the book of John 13:34, in which Jesus said: "A new commandment I give unto you, that you love one another."

Army Gives "Kiddies" Outing

Here are the types of children the Salvation Army takes to its fresh air camps when city tenements are "living hells." Brigadier W. G. Anderson, divisional commander of the army in Illinois, is asking funds in the state budget to assist with this work. The army's home service appeal for funds will be made between October 24 and 31. Besides the children, thousands of tired mothers are also to be given outings.

FARMER AWARE OF ARMY'S GOOD WORK

Rural Communities Recognize Need of Helping Hand in Large Cities as Well as Town and Village.

The farmers of Illinois are manifesting a keen interest in the coming appeal of the Salvation Army for funds to be made between October 24 and 31. Leading farmers of the state have endorsed the Salvation Army and in many counties are not only taking an active part in organizing for the appeal, but have accepted the chairmanship for their respective communities. The men who toll on the farms have learned that in the Salvation Army they have an organization which is daily looking after the welfare of their boys and girls who leave the farm to seek work in the great metropolis. Also the farmers have learned that the Salvation Army is not strictly a city serving organization.

Hundreds of girls from the rural districts and small towns are cared for each year in the Salvation Army's maternity hospitals and girls' boarding homes. Statistics, recently compiled by the army, show that 75 per cent of the maternity and social cases coming to them in the city, have their origin in the rural districts. Many young girls flee to the city to hide their shame and to these girls the Salvation Army offers a haven.

Gigantic Waterspout.

A waterspout recently measured from a British ship in the Indian ocean was 4,000 feet high to the base of the overlying cloud. The column tapered from 500 feet wide at the junction with the cloud to 150 feet wide at the sea.

RECORD CLASS OF STUDENTS AT SCHOOL

Training in Welfare Work is Given by Salvation Army at Chicago College.

Every section of the United States is represented in the class of students now attending the Salvation Army Training college, 700 Brompton place, Chicago, Ill. Young men and women are trained here to become specialists, not only in soul saving, but in all branches of welfare work for which this organization is noted.

Applicants for training are passed upon by the Salvation Army advisory boards in each community. This local administration of organization's manifold activities is one of the latest steps taken in consolidating the work.

This year's class at the training college is the largest in the history of the Chicago institution. The vocations of the students embrace telephone operators, dishwashers, beauty culturist, "newsie," clerks, stenographers and scores of other occupations.

The college is one of the unique institutions of the country, turning out at the end of each year a group of graduates fitted especially for the arduous work of the Salvationists. Their assignments, made at commencement, send them frequently to the darkest corners of the world to work among the sick and lowly.

A certain amount of the home service fund asked by the Salvation Army, in Illinois, between October 24 and 31, is to be used in training Salvationists.

Stella—Did she lose her heart?

Bella—Yes, she wants it returned with one question asked.

Do You Look Forward To a Good Night's Rest?

Do you regularly anticipate a refreshing sleep? Or do you dread going to bed, only to stare, sleepless, at the walls? The difference between sleeping and staring is simply a matter of nerves.

When your nervous system is in a sound condition, you are certain to sleep well. But when your nerves are worn out and beyond your control, your rest is broken and your awakening leaves you languid and irritable.

Doctors know that much of the nerve disorders result from tea and coffee drinking. The drugs in these drinks over-stimulate, often causing the serious ills which result from disturbing the regular bodily functions. It is for your health's sake that many doctors now say you should quit tea and coffee. Drink Postum, the delicious meal-time beverage instead! In flavor it is much like coffee.

Postum is fundamentally a nerve strengthener because it lets you get sound, restful sleep. Postum is a skillfully-made cereal beverage, and the secret of its popularity is its protection to health and its delicious flavor.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

FREE CANAL BILL PASSES SENATE

Borah Bill Giving U. S. Ships
Passage Without Charge
Voted 47 to 37.

SENATORS FOR TAX REPEAL

G. O. P. Committee Votes to Kill All
Transportation Tariff—Expect to Get Measure to the President This Month.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Despite opposition by Senator Lodge, Republican leader, the senate passed the Borah bill providing that no tolls be charged American vessels passing through the Panama canal. The vote was 47 to 37.

Senator Lodge, who is chairman of the foreign relations committee, did not go into detail in his protest against passage of the bill, but said: "There are compelling reasons why we should not exercise at this time our undoubted legal right to remove tolls as provided in this bill."

The bill now goes to the house, where, it is expected, it will be held in committee until after the armament conference which begins November 11.

Those voting for the bill were: Ashurst, Ball, Borah, Broussard, Calder, Cameron, Capper, Cummins, Curtis, Edge, Elkins, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Gooding, Harrell, Harrison, Johnson, Kellogg, Kendrick, Ladd, La Follette, Lenroot, McNary, Moses, Newberry, Nicholson, Norbeck, Odell, Page, Penrose, Poindexter, Tamm, Reed, Robinson, Shields, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanley, Sutherland, Townsend, Underwood, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), Watson (Ind.), Weller, Willis. Total, 47.

Voting against the bill: Brandegee, Caraway, Colt, Culbertson, Dillingham, Ernst, Fletcher, Glass, Hale, Harris, Hoffman, Hitchcock, Jones (N. M.), Kenyon, Keyes, King, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McKellar, McKinley, Meyers, Nelson, New, Overton, Pittman, Pomerene, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Spencer, Sterling, Trammell, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson (Ga.), Williams. Total, 37.

Amendments to the tax bill proposing repeal of all transportation taxes, including those on oil carried by pipe lines and on parcel-post packages; a maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent and increased estate taxes were approved by majority members of the senate finance committee.

A flat tax of $3.40 a gallon on distilled spirits was also agreed upon, but with a proviso that there would be a rebate of $4.20 a gallon where it was shown to the satisfaction of the commissioner of internal revenue that the spirits were used for manufacturing or medicinal purposes.

The majority also approved amendments for retention of the corporation capital stock tax and for repeal of the $2,000 exemption allowed corporations in the case of corporations having annual net income in excess of $25,000.

Excise taxes proposed for repeal under another amendment include the rates on sporting goods, chewing gum, electric fans, thermos bottles, smoking and hunting equipment, moving-picture films, toilet soaps and powders, photographic apparatus and accessories, furs and perfumes and cosmetics. The tax on works of art would be reduced from 10 to 5 per cent, the tax on candy made 4 per cent flat and the additional taxes proposed on hotel rooms and on hardwood office furniture eliminated.

Thus the committee majority not only approved all the recommendations agreed upon by senate leaders last week, but adopted some on its own account. The vote on the major changes was understood to have been 5 to 4. It was said that on the test vote last Saturday the majority disapproved by 5 to 4 the proposals for increased surtax rates and estate taxes, but these matters were reconsidered.

Chairman Penrose, in announcing the committee action, said the changes, in his opinion, assured solid Republican support for the tax bill, and he reiterated his belief that the amended measure could be sent to the President before the end of the month.

"Commanding practically the unanimous support of the majority party in the senate," he said, "the bill ought to pass that body at an early date. I do not anticipate any prolonged controversy in conference, so there is every reason to expect the bill to become a law before the expiration of the present month."

U. S. SEIZES BIG CHICAGO CONCERN

Harrison Parker's Co-Operative
Enterprise Taken by Order of Court.

HAS $19,000,000 LIABILITIES

Officials Seek $2,000,000 in Steel
Chest—Society's Officers Claim
Assets of $7,000,000 and Liabilities of Only $2,000,000.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Obeying a federal order, receivers seized all books, records and available assets of Harrison Parker's $19,000,000 co-operative enterprises. The order was signed by Judge Evans in the United States Circuit court.

All the subsidiaries, finance companies, grocery stores, and allied concerns of every sort were ordered taken over. The seizure followed testimony that Mr. Parker had taken a steel chest containing more than $2,000,000 in Liberty bonds from the company's office in Ogden avenue without giving a receipt. This was stoutly denied by Parker.

In a trial balance statement of the date of August 31, given by Parker, trustee of the society, to post office inspectors who have been investigating charges of fraud against the society, the assets and liabilities were listed in excess of $19,000,000.

In hearings before Judge Evans, counsel for the society have declared that the assets of the society are in excess of $7,000,000 and the liabilities but little over $2,000,000. This, however, does not take into account the $13,000,000 worth of "beneficial interest certificates" sold by the society, the holders of which, according to Judge Evans' ruling, are on a par with other creditors of the organization.

The hearing was before Master in Chancery C. B. Morrison.

The offices of the society were entered by F. E. Hummel of the Central Trust company shortly after noon. Two hours later the receiver walked into the offices of the Great Western Securities company, the selling agent of the co-operative's securities, on the third floor of the People's Life building, and announced that he had taken over that concern as well.

Seizure of the Itchdate Wholesale company, the Allen Food company and the 181 grocery stores which the society claims to be operating is to follow.

The court, in its order, found that it was "absolutely necessary for the preservation of the estate of the alleged bankrupts" to appoint a receiver. The receiver was "directed immediately to take possession" of all the "assets, rights and property of every kind, character and disposition" of the society "and their subsidiary and affiliated companies" to "employ or discharge such of its officers, attorneys, managers, superintendents, agents or employees" as in the opinion of the receiver was deemed proper.

STEAL $300,000 IN LIQUORS

Thieves Raid Cellar of Joseph Leiter,
Just Across Potomac River From Washington.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Rare and choice wines and liquors of ancient vintage and from many foreign climes, and worth $300,000, were stolen from the country estate of Joseph E. Leiter, in Virginia, just across the Potomac river from Washington, it was learned.

This is said by prohibition enforcement agents to have been the richest haul made by liquor thieves since the Volstead law has turned genius for evil-doing from other lines of criminal endeavor into the bootlegging pastime. The robbery is believed to have been committed by an organized gang of bootleggers, with the aid of professional safe cracksmen. An acetylene torch was used to bore through a three-inch steel door to the wine cellar, which then was blown off its hinges.

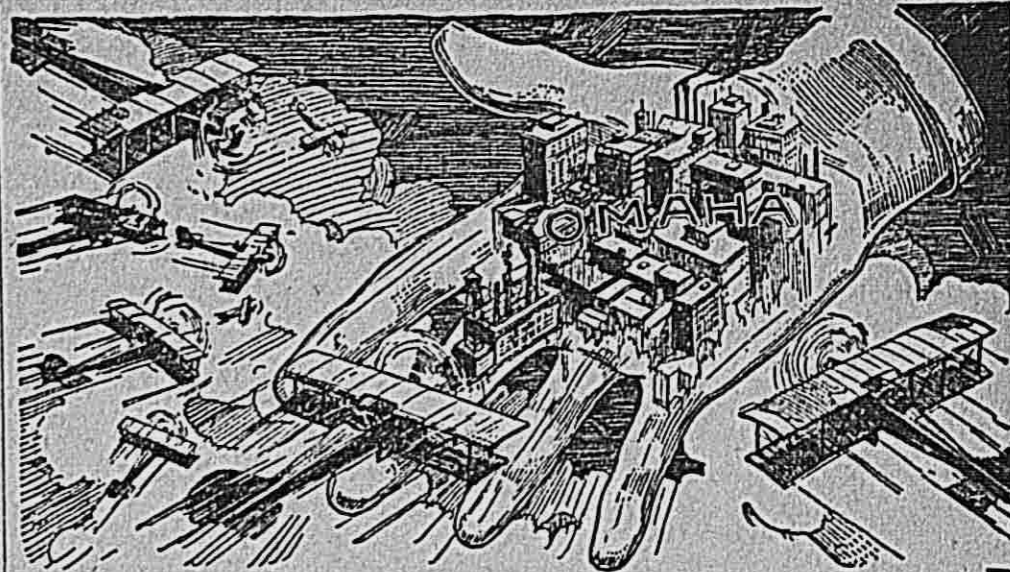

FREES TWO BOOTLEGGERS

Judge Lindsey of Denver Won't Punish Poor While Rich Violate Laws.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10.—On the ground that "it would be unjust to punish a lesser offender against the bootleg laws while wealthy social leaders of Capitol Hill were allowed to have their wine cellars without fear of molestation," Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the juvenile court freed Chester Lasater and Cleto Hinton, accused of giving young girls liquor to drink. In a statement read in open court, Judge Lindsey charged that "a conspiracy exists among the rich to have the laws enforced only against the poor."

10,000,000 Russ May Perish.
London, Oct. 10.—Efforts to save 10,000,000 Russians from starvation will fall unless $5,000,000 ($18,781,250 by current exchange) is raised before Christmas, declared Dr. Fridtjof Nansen in an interview.

$200,000 Fire in Shops.
Pratt, Kan., Oct. 10.—Damage estimated at nearly $200,000 was done to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad division shops here when fire destroyed car sheds, carpenter shops and 25 box cars.

GREW WHISKERS TO GET JOB

SUNSHADES FOR LUCKY DOG

And Secretary of State Hughes Has Worn the Required Facial Adornments Ever Since.

Innovation That Was Brought Ab by the Protracted Spell of Unusually Hot Weather.

Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state, gave little indication to his teachers and classmates at Brown university that he was to become a leader in the nation, though it is true that he had his bachelor degree before he was twenty-one. He planned to make teaching his life work, and he did devote some years to that occupation. His first application for a job was as a teacher of Greek in a small Eastern college. The head of the department received him kindly, but evidently regarded his youthful appearance as making him an impossibility in that line.

"Why," said he, "you have no more hair on your face than an egg."

"If a beard is necessary I can raise one," said Hughes, who knew his own ability in that line, and soon was able to qualify for the job and got it. And, by the way, he has the same whiskers yet. He has never worn a clean-shaven face since.—Columbus Dispatch.

The call of a katydid can be heard for a quarter of a mile.

One of the quaintest innovations of the recent heat wave in London was the introduction of sunshades for dogs. These consisted of light crepe-de-chine protections suspended over the animals' necks by light wire strands.

The "lucky" animals whose masters or mistresses bought the sunshades did not seem so pleased with them as perhaps the donors had hoped, remarked London Answers.

One dog found the heat so oppressive that he sought the shelter of a railway tunnel on the Highbury tube. Here he was, however, so frightened by the continual passing of trains that he shrank into a dark corner and remained there for two days, until his master, on the information of a railway man, fetched him.

Although sunshades for dogs made their first appearance, there was a strange absence of the straw hats that horses used to wear before the war. Have horses been so hardened by the great campaign that they do not need the consideration that dogs get?

The Man Who Said:
"The proof of the pudding is in the eating"—
was only half through

He started a good pudding-proof, but he didn't finish it.

There's a lot of trouble in the world from puddings that taste good but don't do good.

They "eat" well, but that ends the recommendation.

Sanitariums are full of pudding-eaters who stopped the test at taste and forgot to inquire whether their food gave the body what it needed—until the body rebelled.

Grape-Nuts is a food that tastes good and does good. The proof of Grape-Nuts begins in the eating and goes on through the splendid service which Grape-Nuts renders as a real food. Grape-Nuts is the perfected goodness of wheat and malted barley—delicious to taste, easy to digest, and exceptionally rich in nourishment for body and brain.

"The Man of the Forest"

Coming to the Crystal

Saturday, Oct. 15

While filming Benjamin B. Hampton's great photoplay of the novel of Zane Grey, "The Man of the Forest," which comes to the Crystal theatre Saturday, progress was "arrested" while two men wearing the badges of special detectives of Los Angeles held up the masked actors who were dragging the two damsels, Claire Adams and Charlotte Pierce, screaming and struggling, from the road toward an isolated cabin. In order that the two cameras which were taking the scene from opposite angles should not photograph each other, each camera and its force was securely hidden. The scene depicts a kidnapping, and the girls were screaming lustily. Guards had been stationed on the road on each side of the company to stop any auto passing until the scene was finished, but in the midst of the "kidnapping" a small, well-known brand of automobile rushed past one of these guards, despite his gestures and shouts, and ran full out into the scene.

Two men tumbled out, revolvers in hand. They showed that they meant business, and the actor "bad men" put up their hands without question, especially on seeing that each man wore a badge. It was not until the directors and camera men appeared, from the side lines and shouted at the intruders that they realized the situation. Then they hastily sprang into their machine, made some unkind remarks regarding "movie folk," and departed without bothering about introductions.
